

Join The Nuclear Supply Chain

The nuclear energy industry offers numerous opportunities for businesses within its supply chain. From mining and refining raw materials to manufacturing components and providing specialized services, there is a diverse range of opportunities for companies to get involved. Power plants and Small Modular Reactors (SMR) require fuel, equipment, and maintenance, creating demand for suppliers to provide high-quality and reliable products.

With increasing global emphasis on reducing carbon emissions, demand for nuclear energy is expected to rise, creating a stable market for suppliers. Join this growing industry to capitalize on its potential and benefit from its expanding opportunities!

READY4SMR PROGRAM

OCNI's Ready4SMR program was created with the goal of assisting companies in their efforts in becoming qualified to supply goods and services to the future SMR supply chain:

Assess Current State: Site visits and analysis of certifications and Standard Operating procedures (SOP).

Action Plan: Collaborate with members for individual work plans to achieve designations

Review: Pre-audit reviews for optimal outcomes

Nuclear Supplier Checks: Arrange nuclear supply chain audits with target vendors

Approval and On-Going Support: Post-audit check-ins for continued support
